envirotank

Benefits

Envirotanks cost less to install, are easier to maintain and monitor, and provide reliable, environmentally responsible containment for a wide range of corrosive, flammable, oxidizing, reactive, toxic and other hazardous substances.

AGI manufactures Envirotanks to meet individual customer specifications, as well as all required environmental, fire and API, ULC or UL standards.

AGI Service

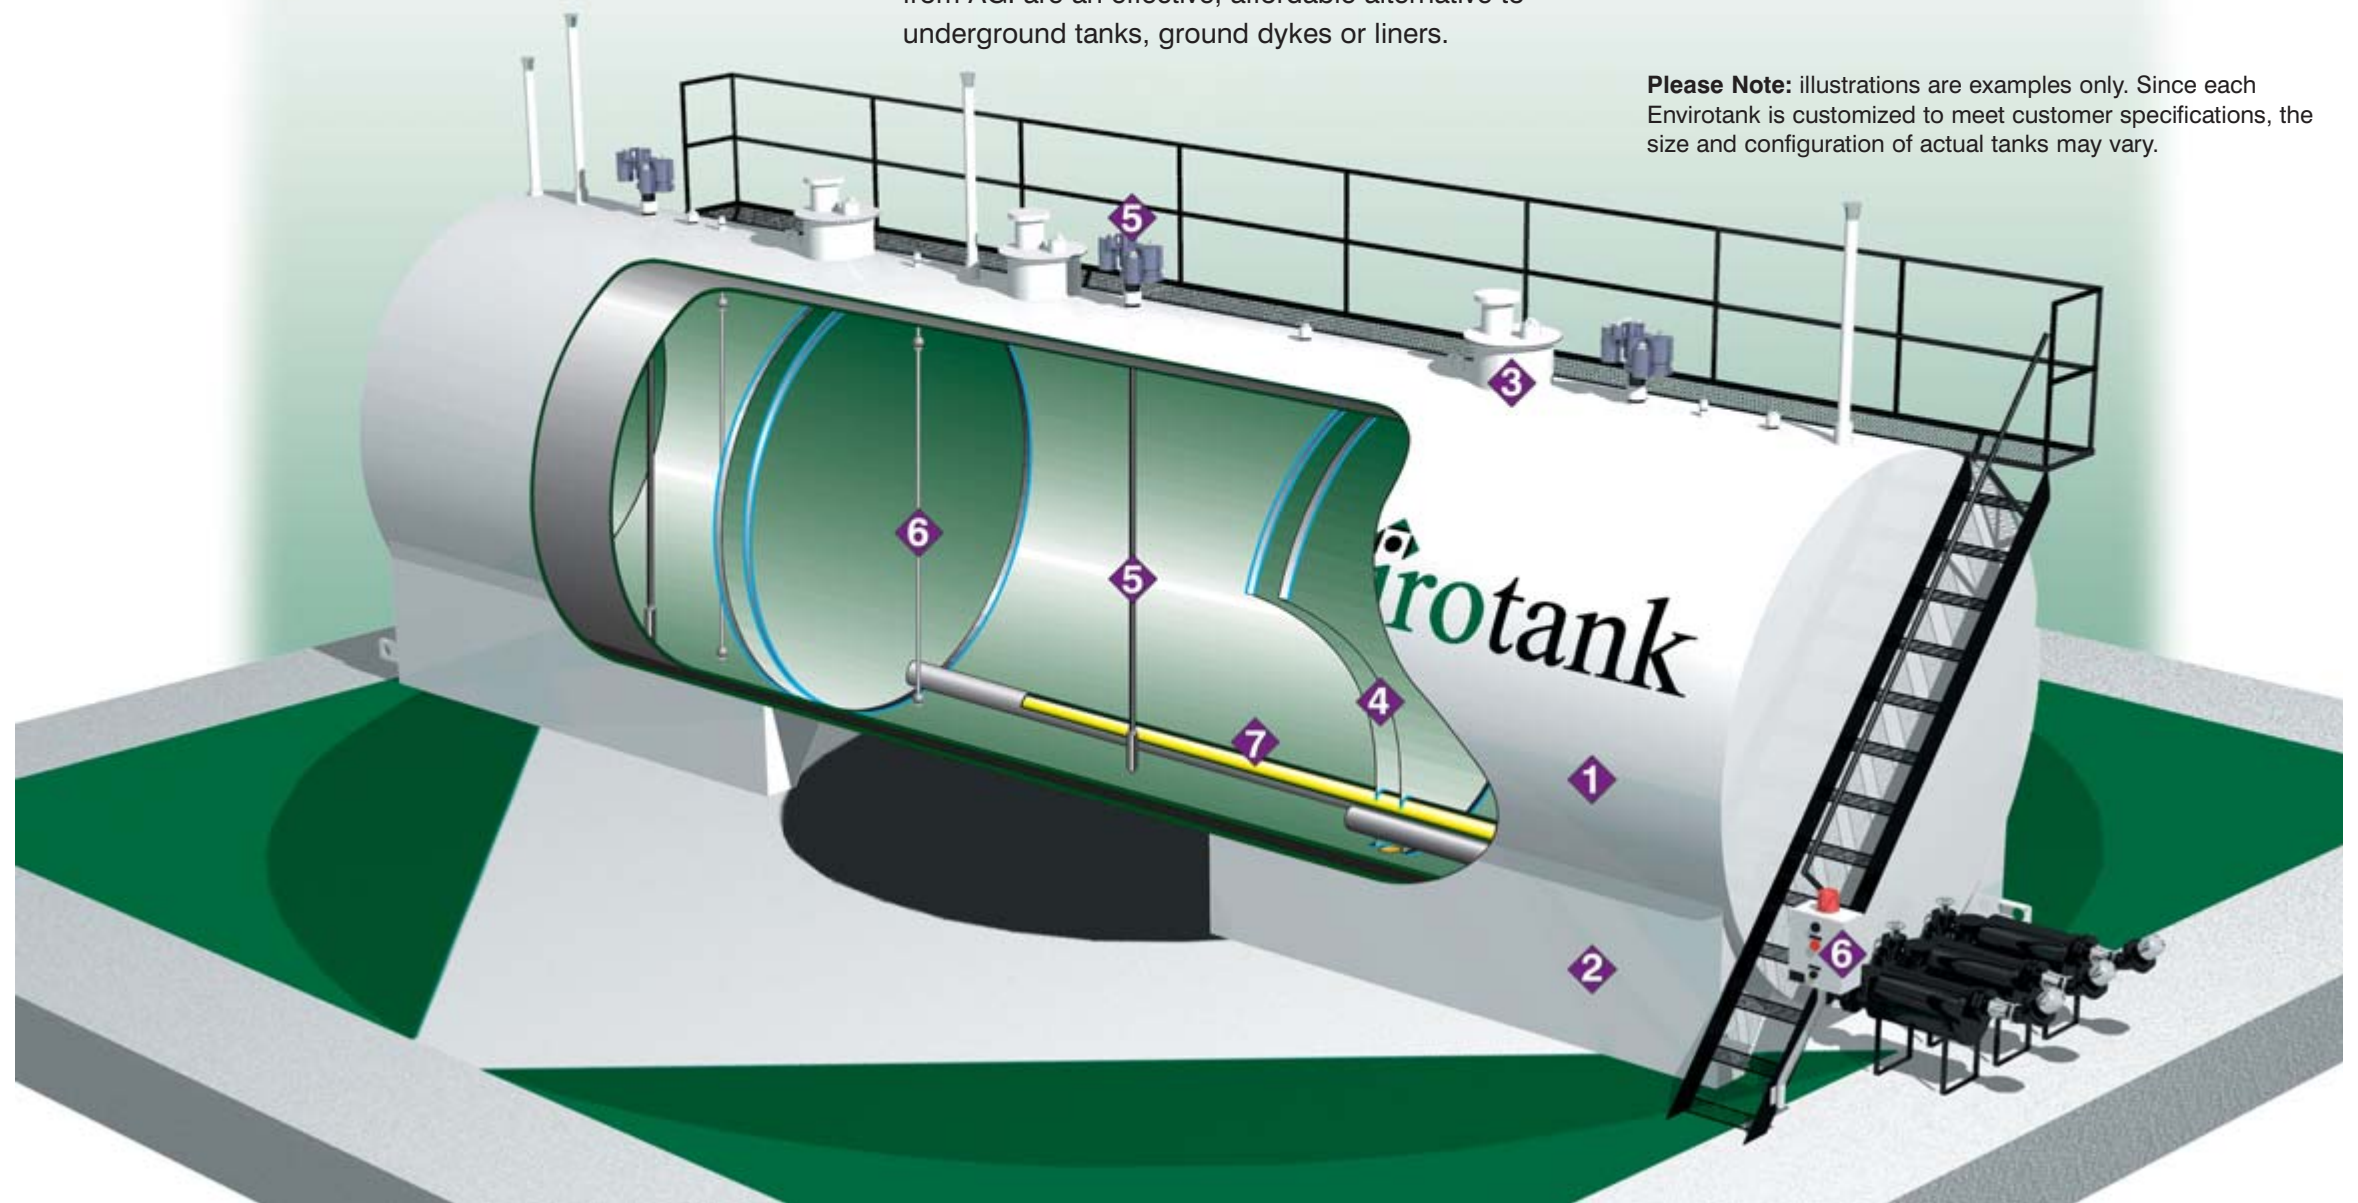

AGI backs its product with complete customer support services, ranging from site evaluation and configuration, to site decommissioning, installation and operational start-up. Working with your planning and installation contractors, AGI delivers the most efficient system for your needs.

For oil & gas, mining, utility, transportation, construction, waste management and other industrial sectors, AGI Envirotanks are the better way to meet on-site containment needs.

Containment is a growing concern in commercial and industrial sectors. Safety, reliability, efficiency, cost-effectiveness ... all are part of the equation when you are looking for liquid containment systems. Envirotanks from AGI are an effective, affordable alternative to underground tanks, ground dykes or liners.
